DISPER OF MAILS HELD TENYO BACK

The transfer of mail from the K. K. S. Tenyo Maru to the Nippon Maru at Honolulu yesterday morning was delayed by a heavy fog which prevented the former vessel from leaving on schedule. The Nippon Maru had a load of mail from San Francisco and as the fog did not clear off until about 10 o'clock, it was not until that time that the Nippon Maru was able to leave for San Francisco, a delay which was not shared by the Tenyo Maru. The fog was so thick that it was not until 11 o'clock that the Nippon Maru was able to leave for San Francisco, a delay which was not shared by the Tenyo Maru. Tidal Wave Hit Hilonian.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 13.—The steamship Hilonian as it was approaching this port Friday morning was hit by a tidal wave, but sustained no damage. Captain Fredericksen reports that the vessel was steaming along under a calm sea, and that the night was clear and the weather pleasant when suddenly without warning a great wave appeared before the steamer and swept over its bow, swamping almost its decks almost to the stern.

Petty Thievery on Korea.

Passengers on the Pacific Mail liner Korea, arriving yesterday from the Orient, complained of numerous petty thefts on the voyage. Silk stockings, combs, handbags containing money and valuables, and even a fountain pen disappeared in the most mysterious manner. The losses were bulletined, but no investigation was made.

Shipping Notes.

The bark Nanama will sail from New York for Honolulu about July 15. The Nippon Maru is now in command of Captain Smith, recently promoted from first officer.

Army and Navy News

Lieutenant Janney a Suicide.

MANILA, March 13.—Second Lieutenant Clarence M. Janney, twelfth infantry, killed himself yesterday at Fort William McKinley. It is not known whether the killing was intentional or by accident. Army inspectors are investigating.

Lieutenant Janney, accompanied by his wife, attended a dinner party at the house of Lieutenant Colonel Robert F. Ames. Janney left the party and went to his quarters. He secured a revolver and returned to the house of Lieutenant Colonel Ames, on the way to which he fired one shot, presumably in the air. He entered the house and flourished the revolver. There was an explosion, and Janney fell with a bullet in the head. He died instantly. It was at first reported that Lieutenant Colonel Ames had shot Janney, and guards pined him under arrest, but he was subsequently released.

Mare Island Drydock.

VALLEJO, March 14.—After nearly seven years of delay, the possession of a drydock large enough to receive the biggest ships in the American navy, here this city near the new structure, which has been under construction for some time, was given the first official test—and several it was, for the new dock was called upon to receive the mammoth cruiser Santa Barbara, which displaces almost 14,000 tons of water.

The work of moving the water out of the drydock was commenced shortly after 10 o'clock, and continued several hours. Before this was done the pumps, in line of the dock, had to be started, and the water was pumped into the drydock. The pumps were so arranged that they could be started at any time, and the water could be pumped out at any time.

BOOZE ROUTE TO SUICIDE'S GRAVE

Tragedy at a Waikiki Bathing Resort Yesterday Afternoon.

SUICIDE IN A BATHHOUSE

Victim of Too Much Liquor Takes a Swim and Then Shoots Himself.

Too "nervous" to go home, as he put it, S. Sverdrsen, who had for some time been under police surveillance on account of his habits of excessive drinking, went to the beach yesterday, ordered some beer and then committed suicide by shooting in the bathhouse of the Moana Hotel. A friend who brought the beer Sverdrsen had ordered, had to break down the bathroom door, and found the unfortunate man dead. A trickle of blood running under the door had given a hint of what had occurred, and a revolver lying at the feet of the dead man told the rest of the sad story.

A friend by the name of Leonard had been with the suicide up to the time that the latter had entered the surf. Then Sverdrsen said that he wanted some beer but Leonard told Sverdrsen he had had enough.

"Well, I want some when I come out," said Sverdrsen, and Leonard departed for it, while the other entered the water.

When Leonard returned the attendants told him that something had happened. Leonard hid down the bottles of beer that he had bought, broke down the door and saw the dead figure with a bullet hole in the temple.

Some time ago Sverdrsen married but his domestic life was not happy, and his wife recently appealed to the police to protect her from his drunken orgies.

Sheriff Jarrett admonished the man to keep the peace. Friends of the wife came to the sheriff and told him that Sverdrsen had threatened to kill her. There are at present two revolvers in the sheriff's office which Jarrett took from the hands of the man, and now a third and last one has been added to the collection.

Sverdrsen continued to go on errands with choice friends, ending each one with abuse of his wife and step-children. Finally the police told him that he would have to leave the island and they sent him out on the Mikahala. On Hawaii he obtained a position with A. A. Wilson, contractor for the Hilo railroad extension and he had been there for some time, still drinking, but leaving his family in peace.

Yesterday afternoon a friend of the wife, by the name of Bushnell, came to the sheriff and told him that Sverdrsen had returned to town and that Mrs. Sverdrsen was getting nervous and asking again for the protection of the police. Bushnell had just delivered his message when a telephone call came from the Moana, saying that a man had committed suicide there.

Jarrett told Bushnell that he would look out for the man, and ordered an auto, summoned a jury and with them and some newspaper men went to the scene.

Sverdrsen came to his death on the 21st day of March, 1910, from a self-inflicted gunshot wound in the head brought on by despondency. Last night's inquest was the first over which Deputy Ross presided since January 25. When Ross searched the man's effects at the Occidental Hotel yesterday he found a photograph of the family on the base of which Sverdrsen had written a note trying to indicate that his family had driven him to suicide.

EMBARRASSING.

"I'll have to get another typewriter," said the bustling man. "This one is constantly stopping my dictation to ask how some word is spelled." "That's a great loss of time." "I don't mind the time, but it interferes with discipline for me to have to keep saying I don't know."
